

Barbara Ansell Fellowships in Paediatric Rheumatology

The Arthritis Research Campaign is offering these 1-year entry-level fellowships in memory of Dr Barbara Ansell to provide an opportunity for paediatricians or rheumatologists (usually at specialty training level), and allied health professionals with 3 years' relevant post-registration work experience, to develop research interests in paediatric rheumatology and test their suitability for a career in research.

Fellowships will normally be based in a centre of excellence in the UK and will provide a salary for 1 year (full-time) or up to 2 years (part-time) plus reasonable running expenses.

Successful applicants will be expected to develop projects in paediatric rheumatology for further fellowship support.

Further information and the process on how to apply for a grant is available from arc's web site www.arc-research.org.uk or from the Research and Education Department (tel 01246 541115).

There is no deadline for applications which may be submitted at any time.
